About Me

Soon to be graduating from Fanshawe's Interactive Media Specialist program, I've been passionate about web development from a young age. I am a critical thinker who is always driven to learn more - because I believe learning is a lifelong process. I enjoy listening to music, problem solving, and bringing visions to life.

Goal

To obtain a position that will give me the opportunity to expand my skillset as a developer, hone my talents, and to be part of an amazing team.
